

Treasure Islands

There's treasure to be found in these islands, but the map is incomplete. Color each square of this puzzle white (island) or black (ocean) according to the following rules:

- Every numbered square will remain white.
- Every connected region of white squares will contain a single numbered square (but the number does not indicate the size of the region)
- The black squares form a single connected region.
- There is no two-by-two region consisting entirely of black squares.
